

MEDIA RELEASE
9 October 2019

Free workshop for businesses in Bunbury and Busselton

Almost every business holds information about its customers, clients and suppliers. Under the Australian privacy legislation, businesses are responsible for protecting this information. Lorraine Madden and Andrew Sutton of Lavan will be presenting free workshops in Bunbury and Busselton on October 16 and 17 where the topics of privacy, data breach and cyber-attacks will be discussed.

Lorraine and Andrew will provide advice on issues relating to privacy, how to ensure, as far as possible, that all relevant legislation is complied with, and what to do in circumstances where a breach has, or may have, occurred.

“It is important that every business is aware of the Australian privacy legislation and how they are affected by it,” Lorraine Madden said.

“Failing to protect against data breaches can impact your business’ reputation and bottom-line,” Andrew Sutton said.

Lavan is an independent WA law firm with an experienced Cyber team. The workshop will outline what businesses need to know about the Privacy Act, as well as strategies for preventing, and dealing with, data breaches.

EVENT DETAILS

Lavan Brandaid Session - Wednesday 16 October, 5.30pm at The Prince Hotel in Bunbury

Lavan Brandaid Session – Thursday 17 October, 8.30am at The Good Egg in Busselton

Places are limited for this free workshop. Register online:

<https://www.eventbrite.com.au/o/lavan-co-hosted-with-jack-in-the-box-26425294221>

About Lavan

Lavan is an independent Western Australian law firm. Prior to its launch on 3 April 2006, Lavan had a 120-year history under the names Phillips Fox Perth, Lavan Solomon, Lavan & Walsh and Lavan Legal.

Lavan is a full service firm with 26 partners and 158 staff. We provide legal advice in banking and finance, construction and infrastructure, corporate and commercial law, education, employment and safety, energy and infrastructure, family law, liquor and hospitality, insolvency and reconstruction, media and defamation, mining and resources, oil and gas, planning and environment, property and leasing, tax and tourism and sport. Our litigation team is one of the largest in Western Australia.

For more information or to request an interview, please contact Sarah Thillagaratnam on 08 9288 6920 or email saraht@lavan.com.au.